

Big Oil is Lobbying for Immunity. Tell Congress to Protect Our Access to the Courts.

THE THREAT

- Oil and gas lobbyists are urging Congress to give fossil fuel companies total legal immunity from any laws or lawsuits that could hold them accountable for their role in the climate crisis.
- The American Petroleum Institute — the largest oil and gas trade lobbying group in the U.S. — announced that stopping state climate lawsuits and superfund laws is one of their top legislative priorities in 2026.
- Sixteen Republican attorneys general even proposed a game plan for how the Trump administration could help create a “liability shield” for fossil fuel companies — modeled on the shameful 2005 law protecting gun manufacturers from lawsuits.
- State-level immunity bills for the fossil fuel industry have already been introduced in Utah and Oklahoma as part of the larger coordinated effort to strip communities of their right to take Big Oil to court.

THE STAKES

- Communities across the country are paying nearly $1 trillion per year for extreme heat, floods, wildfires, and rising seas that are becoming more intense, deadly, and destructive as a result of fossil-fueled climate change.
- Major oil and gas companies knew decades ago that their products would fuel these climate damages, but they orchestrated a Big Tobacco-style campaign of deception to mislead the public and protect their profits.
- More than 1 in 4 Americans now live in a state or community taking Big Oil companies to court to hold them accountable for this deception and make polluters pay for the harm they have caused.
- A legal shield for Big Oil could forever shut the courthouse doors for all Americans, forcing the rising bill for climate change onto taxpayers, and setting a harmful legal precedent that protects corporations instead of communities.
